This past summer, the NorthWoods Stewardship Center Watershed Crew installed erosion control practices at the Dolloff Pond Fish and Wildlife access ramp in Sutton, Vermont. These practices were installed to reduce sediment run off into the pond, while also improving access to the water.

If you're a landscape professional, lake association member, or just curious about best management practices for lake shore access, join us for a tour of the Dolloff Pond project:

- Learn about best management practices and tour the installed practices
- Learn about the NorthWoods Stewardship Watershed Crews
- Get information on the Lake Wise Program
- Celebrate the great work completed in the 2018 field season
- Warm drinks and snacks will be provided!
